Quick disclaimer.
already really busy today Friday
nasa and esa are probably the best known space agencies.
already really busy today Friday
already really busy today Friday
easyformat makes an underscore an active character, however it was already special before so you still have to type a backslash if you want to insert an underscore. The same can be said of the hat, however since this one is difficult to add in ordinary ways, the package gives you a command to get it.
easyformat makes an underscore an active character, however it was already special before so you still have to type a backslash if you want to insert an underscore. The same can be said of the hat, however since this one is difficult to add in ordinary ways, the package gives you a command to get it.
To make it work we would have to make it an active character, however this would break things like sections. The underscore is already protected because of its meaning in mathmode. However, it has little to no use in textmode. This is why we can use it for this purpose and not the asterisk.