The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog, and the lazy dog watches the quick brown fox jump again; typesetting systems break such paragraphs into lines by minimising badness, and a small stretch or shrink of each font lets the lines come out more even than the interword glue alone allows. Hyphenation, protrusion of punctuation into the margin and expansion of the glyphs all take part in the choice of the breakpoints.